ABOUT GEW

Global Entrepreneurship Week is a movement to celebrate and empower entrepreneurs in every country and community around the world – especially those who face structural barriers or may have never considered the idea of launching a startup. Each November, 10 million people take part in tens of thousands of activities, competitions and events that inspire them to act and provide them with the knowledge, experience and connections they need to succeed.

Global Entrepreneurship Week reaches beyond high-tech startup hubs like Silicon Valley, London and Shanghai. It envisions one entrepreneurial ecosystem open to all, including smaller cities in emerging economies and under-represented communities, whether systemically marginalized, geographically hard-to-reach or otherwise pushed aside or left out. National campaigns are driven by local event organizers who plan activities tailored to their community's needs. Activities can range from small, local gatherings to massive international competitions – or anything in between.

More than 200 communities in the United States take part, with more than 1,000 activities taking place across the country every year. Past VIP participants have included celebrity investor Mark Cuban, rapper Pitbull, Michigan governor Gretchen Whitmer and more.

While GEW only takes place one week each year, the connections made are long-lasting. The campaign serves as an opportunity to collaborate and engage with organizations and individuals to celebrate and spotlight entrepreneurs, expose people to the path of entrepreneurship, help them get started and facilitate access to capital and the resources they need to succeed.

Global Entrepreneurship Week is powered by the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation and supported by a range of strategic partners including corporate sponsors like FedEx, entrepreneurship support organizations like Endeavor Global, a diverse collection of national host organizations and 25,000 local event organizers.

Partners are encouraged to plan activities tailored to their needs. Activities during the Week can range from small, local gatherings to massive international competitions - or anything in between. Meanwhile, a collection of signature activities provide partners with a ready-made offering and set of instructions to plan a local (or virtual) activity like a Startup Huddle event, Speed Network the Globe session or even a Startup Nations Policy Dialogue for your community.

GEW + ASIAN ENTREPRENEURS

Asian entrepreneurs are one of the largest demographics of minority entrepreneurs in the United States. However, they are still underrepresented and face barriers when starting and growing a business. With the growing number of notable Asian American entrepreneurs, it is important to share stories to inspire current and future Asian American entrepreneurs. Additionally, there is a need for targeted resources to help Asian American entrepreneurs to start and scale their businesses.

Global Entrepreneurship Week highlights entrepreneurs across the country and around the world and those who are developing new tools to empower entrepreneurs.

Benefits of participating:

- Highlight Asian businesses in your community.
- Connect entrepreneurs to business resources.
- Establish connections to peers and mentors.
- Encourage economic equity for Asian entrepreneurs.
- Share stories of notable Asian entrepreneurs to inspire the next generation to consider entrepreneurship as a career path.
