ABOUT GEW

Global Entrepreneurship Week is a movement to celebrate and empower entrepreneurs in every country and community around the world – especially those who face structural barriers or may have never considered the idea of launching a startup. Each November, 10 million people take part in tens of thousands of activities, competitions and events that inspire them to act and provide them with the knowledge, experience and connections they need to succeed.

Global Entrepreneurship Week reaches beyond high-tech startup hubs like Silicon Valley, London and Shanghai. It envisions one entrepreneurial ecosystem open to all, including smaller cities in emerging economies and under-represented communities, whether systemically marginalized, geographically hard-to-reach or otherwise pushed aside or left out. National campaigns are driven by local event organizers who plan activities tailored to their community's needs. Activities can range from small, local gatherings to massive international competitions – or anything in between.

More than 200 communities in the United States take part, with more than 1,000 activities taking place across the country every year. Past VIP participants have included celebrity investor Mark Cuban, rapper Pitbull, Michigan governor Gretchen Whitmer and more.

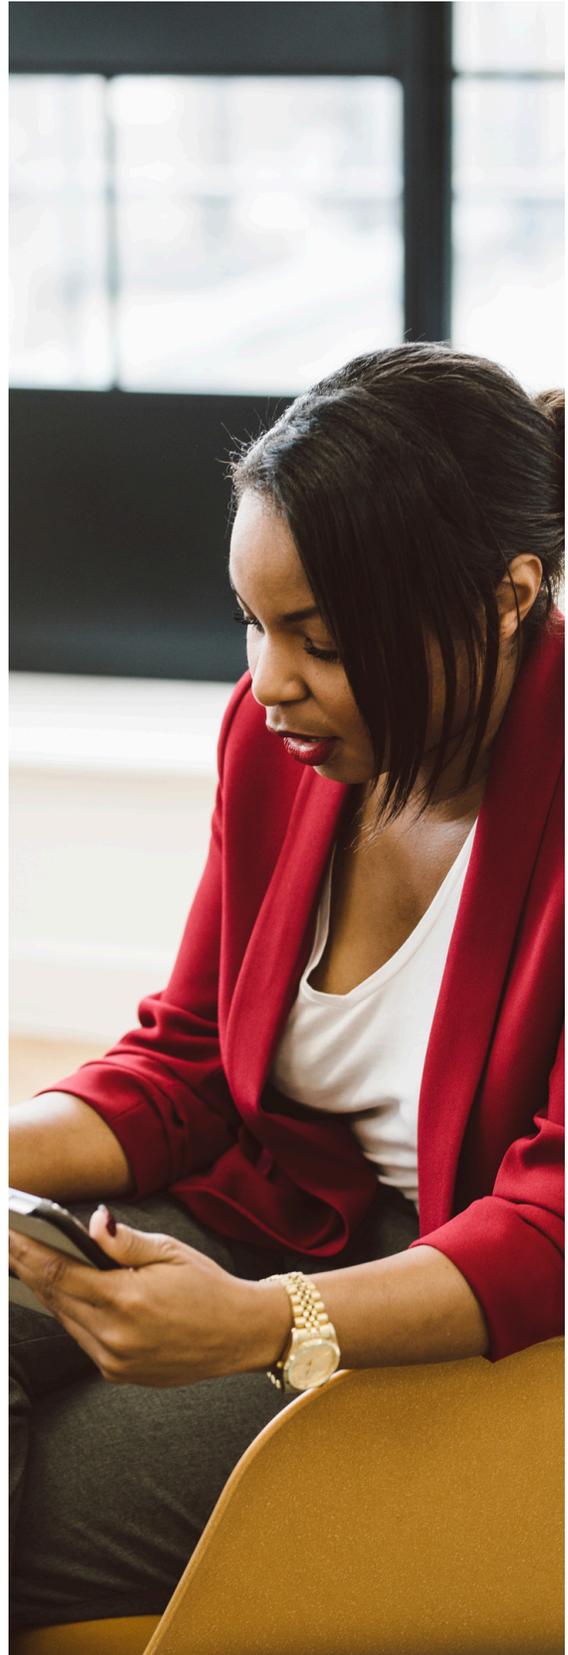

While GEW only takes place one week each year, the connections made are long-lasting. The campaign serves as an opportunity to collaborate and engage with organizations and individuals to celebrate and spotlight entrepreneurs, expose people to the path of entrepreneurship, help them get started and facilitate access to capital and the resources they need to succeed.

Global Entrepreneurship Week is powered by the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation and supported by a range of strategic partners including corporate sponsors like FedEx, entrepreneurship support organizations like Endeavor Global, a diverse collection of national host organizations and 25,000 local event organizers.

Partners are encouraged to plan activities tailored to their needs. Activities during the Week can range from small, local gatherings to massive international competitions - or anything in between. Meanwhile, a collection of signature activities provide partners with a ready-made offering and set of instructions to plan a local (or virtual) activity like a Startup Huddle event, Speed Network the Globe session or even a Startup Nations Policy Dialogue for your community.

GEW + BLACK ENTREPRENEURS

Black founders are one of the fastest growing demographics of entrepreneurs in the United States. However, they are still underrepresented and face barriers when starting and growing a business. With the growing number of notable Black entrepreneurs it is more important than ever to share their stories to inspire even more to unleash their ideas and start their own businesses. However, inspiration only goes so far and Black entrepreneurs at all stages — idea stage, early stage and even growth stage — need targeted resources to help them reach the next level.

Global Entrepreneurship Week highlights Black entrepreneurs across the country and around the world as well as those who are developing new tools and resources to empower their local entrepreneurs.

Benefits of participating:

- Highlight Black businesses in your community.
- Connect entrepreneurs to business resources.
- Establish connections to peers and mentors.
- Encourage economic equity for Black entrepreneurs.
- Share stories of notable Black entrepreneurs to inspire the next generation to consider entrepreneurship as a career path.
- Raise awareness about innovation and entrepreneurship programming at historically Black colleges and universities (HBCUs)

IDEAS BANK

Looking for some other ideas on how you can rally support for your local startups and small businesses during GEW?

A Conversation with Black Business Owners

Host a roundtable or panel to hear from Black business owners about their experiences starting and growing a business. Learn about the successes and challenges they faced and what resources helped them along the way or resources they wish they had access to.

Example:

B.L.A.C.K initiative - Career Conversations: Black Business Owners

Northeastern University Center for Entrepreneurship Education (GEW 2020)

State of Black Entrepreneurship in Your Community

Host a panel discussion for members of the local Black business community. Discuss local business, challenges, and opportunities for entrepreneurs in your community. Address representation for the local Black business community within your ecosystem.

Example:

The State of Black Business in Philadelphia

Community College of Philadelphia, PowerUP (GEW 2020)

Financial Equity for Black Businesses and Entrepreneurs

Access to capital is a common challenge for entrepreneurs, however minority-owned businesses often have a more difficult time seeking access to capital than their white counterparts.

The Kauffman Foundation reported that Black entrepreneurs are almost three times as likely as whites to have their profitability hurt by lack of access to capital, and more than twice as likely to be negatively impacted by the 'cost' of capital. Host a session to discuss how to identify discriminatory practices in lending and what alternative lending may be available to them outside of traditional banks.

Example:

Redefining Equity: New Black-Led Ventures for Financial Resilience and Wealth Generation

Impact Hub Houston, The Diversity Fund
(GEW 2020)

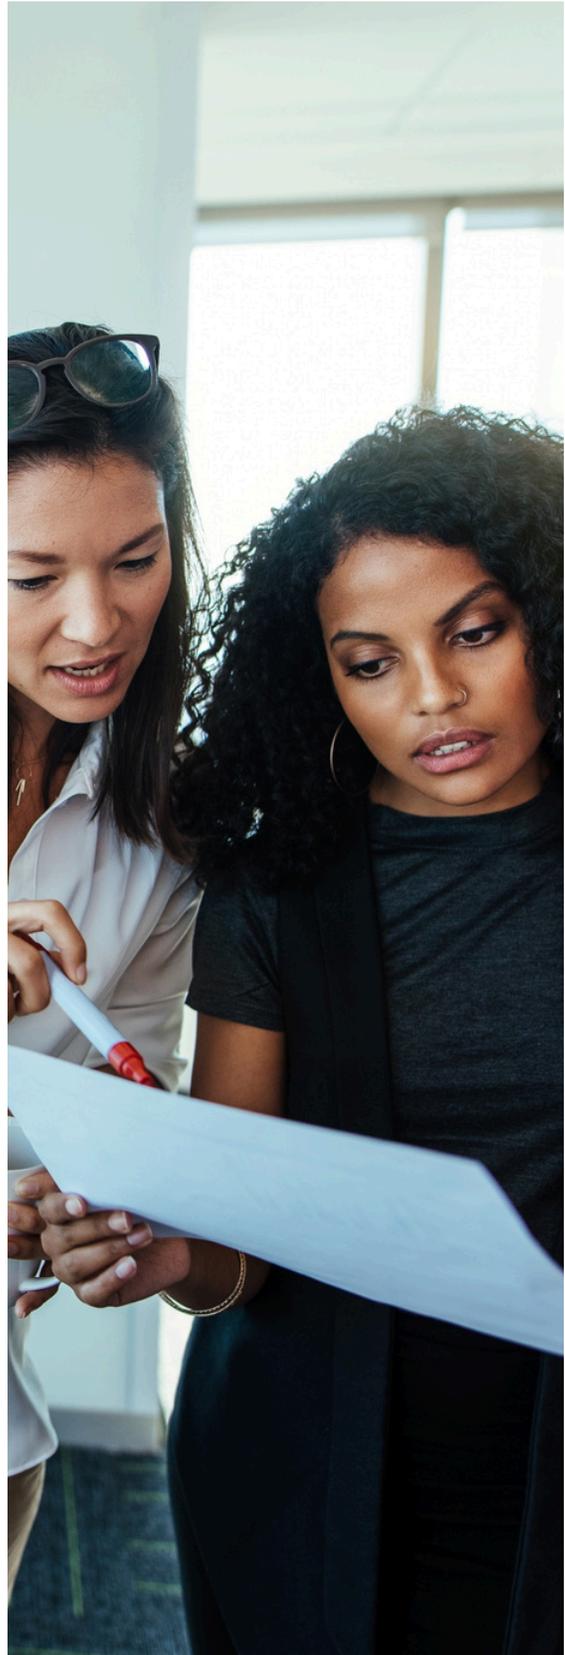

Blind Spots: What Keeps Strategic Partners and Investors from Supporting Black-Founded Businesses?

When Black founders create a company based on their lived experience, there is often push back that the market isn't big enough. Host a panel that explores the problem and opportunity experienced by Black CEOs. Their stories will highlight both the problem and the opportunity that can be solved by understanding your blind spots.

TI AM AN ENTREPRENEUR

I Am an Entrepreneur is a social media campaign seeking to highlight the diverse stories and faces of entrepreneurship. We are asking entrepreneurs to share their "aha" moment, the moment that they realized that they were an entrepreneur.

Speed Network the Globe

Networking is a great way to connect with the various actors in your ecosystem. Host a gathering of entrepreneurs, investors and resource providers to facilitate meaningful connections - face-to-face or virtually - that will extend long past GEW.

Startup Nations Policy Dialogue

Host a Startup Nations Policy Dialogue and help ensure that policymakers understand the importance of active angel investors to helping local entrepreneurs start, scale and stay – without chasing investment in massive startup hubs around the world.
